

Saying 'stay out' forever

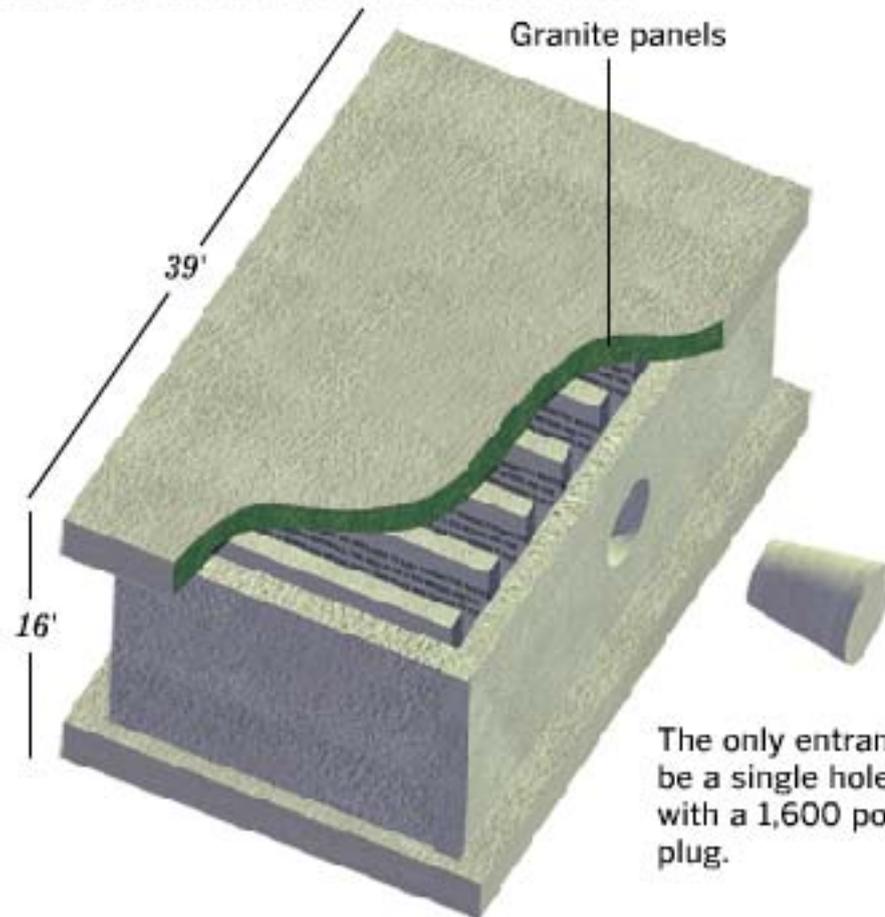

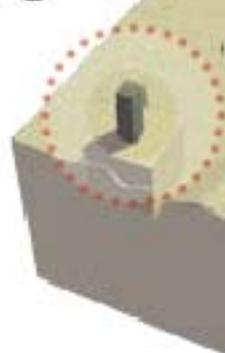

Scientists at the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant, one of the nation's repositories for long-lasting waste from nuclear weapons production, are preparing a warning system designed to be legible and understandable for 500 generations.

B Buried storage rooms

Rooms containing granite panels inscribed with warning messages would be buried to help preserve contents.

media to counter likely

A Monolith

The only entrance would be a single hole, blocked with a 1,600 pound stone plug.

C Information room

